APPENDIX D REPORT LAYOUT

D.1 Introduction

D.1.1 Report ID

Every report can be uniquely identified by its report ID. A report ID is basically comprised of a 4-characters prefix, followed by a 4-digits number.

D.1.1.1 Prefix Naming Convention

All reports related to business functions are prefixed with “CTR”. Depending on its generation nature, the last character of the 4-characters prefix can be:

- V – These are online real-time reports generated through the UI enquiry functions and details screens. These reports are immediately generated when the “Save to File” icon is clicked.
- D – These are daily system reports. Users can view/download the reports via UI View Report List function.
- R – These are response reports that are generated upon request received and will not be available in the UI View Report List function.

D.1.1.2 Report Numbering Strategy

The report number uniquely captures the “purpose” of the report. In other words, reports with the same report number should have very similar layout.

The report numbers are assigned according to the following allocation strategy:

0XXX	UI Enquiry Reports
05XX / 06XX	The trade event details report (05XX) and its corresponding alleged trade event details report (06XX).
07XX	Miscellaneous details report
08XX	Miscellaneous summary reports
09XX	Valuation request report

2XXX	System Reports
25XX	Reports on first-class trade-related entities, e.g. reports on trades, trade events, actions on trade events, etc.
26XX	Reports on some system generated or implied entities, e.g. position
27XX	Reports on valuation

5XXX	Capture Reports
55XX	Capture reports for Reporting Trade

7XXX	Archive Files
71XX	Archive request files on trades, trade events and valuation.

D.1.3 Record Structure of Report Data in CSV Format

Each report is composed of Header, Field Name, Data Name and Footer. Each of them is presented in row. The first row must be Header which presents general report data such as Report ID and Name. The second row must be Field Name of report details which vary in each report. The third and subsequent rows must be Data Name which carries the data of each field. The footer is available in system reports only.

All reports conform to CSV format standard that each field is comma delimited; end of line marker is carriage return and newline character (\r\n).

D.1.4 Report Data Layout Specification Convention

Report layout varies as different reports carry various combinations of common report and specified report layout. Each layout depends on the sequences of Field Names which are based on the order of Column No.

The attributes of report layout are presented in the following table:

Attribute	Description
Column No.	For Column Number, “” means the fields in Common Report Layout will be presented. “+” means the additional fields upon the common fields. Common Report Layout consists of different sets of fields which are preset and fixed. For Column Number, “+” means the fields in Specified Report Layout. For example, a report with Column number “”, “+1”, “+2” means the Field Name in the report will consist of those fields preset in the Common Report Layout and two specific report fields.
Field Name	Field Names vary in each report and are presented based on the Column Number.
Data Name	Self explanatory.
Remark	Self explanatory. Whenever a field is to be output as list of values, “List of Values” will be specified in the remark to signify that the value will be output with the following format: “xxxx\r\n

Attribute	Description
	xxxx\r\n xxxx” where xxxx is the domain value for each element and \r\n is invisible control character carriage return and new line. For example, Business Center in FpML is usually a list of values. When exported as CSV report data, the field Business Center will be formatted as: “GBLO\r\nDEFR” where \r\n is invisible control characters. When there is a field output as ‘Yes’ or ‘No’ boolean value, it will be replaced by ‘Y’ for ‘Yes’, and ‘N’ for ‘No’.
Footer	For system reports, the report footer would be shown at the last line of the report as followed. -- End of Report --

In all reports, fields which are not applicable will be left blank.

For the display order of certain fields in various position reports, please refer to Appendix B.2.

D.1.5 Report File Naming Convention

Field Name	Format	Remarks
Participant	15x	Participant ID with all trailing spaces trimmed if any.
Separator	1x	Default value “-” will be used.
Report ID	50x	Each report has a Report ID by which a user can identify the report.
Separator	1x	Default value “-” will be used.
Date	8!n	The report date in the format YYYYMMDD.

D.1.6 View of Reports on Agent Perspective

For UI Enquiry Reports, Agents can download and view all the trade which is initiated by itself.

D.1.7 Sample Reports

By referring to the report list in Appendix D.1.2, some sample reports for trade functions are generated and attached for easy reference.

Please note the followings:

- Sample reports are in CSV format.
- The parties shown in the sample reports are virtual parties with names "TestXXX".
- Data shown in the sample reports is not real.
- Each sample report is independent and does not correlate with each other.

D.4.6.3 Report Details

This report can be omitted from display on the report list by choosing the corresponding predefined user roles mentioned in Appendix B.3.3 in Administrative Functions.

For reporting trades failing the linking and reconciliation process, they will be displayed in one of the following reconciliation statuses according to the discrepancy reasons:

(i) Trade Not Found

"Trade Not Found" will be shown when there exists an unlinked trade in the HKTR. The reason for unlinking can be (i) one party reported the trade only or (ii) both parties reported the trade but unmatched linking sets led to unsuccessful linking.

The "Trade Not Found" record will be shown when the counterparty of a reported trade is not an Overseas-Incorporated AI. The record will be shown continuously to both sides of the trade parties until it is linked successfully. When the counterparty of a reported trade is an Overseas-Incorporated AI, i.e., Uncertain unlinked trade, the unlinked trade are excluded from this report and displayed in the Participant Uncertain Unlink Report mentioned in Section D.4.7.

Both sides will continuously be alerted unless the unlinked trade is linked.

Uncertain unlinked trades are excluded in this report and displayed in the Participant Uncertain Unlink Report mentioned below in Section D.4.7.

(ii) Content Mismatched

The “Content Mismatch” record will be shown when a trade pair is linked but not all matching fields can be matched. This status applies to all types of reporting parties and will be shown continuously to both sides until the unmatched is resolved.

Unlike Trade Not Found, this alert applies to all type of parties and will appear when the trade is linked but unmatched. Both sides will continuously be alerted unless the unmatched problem is solved.

The different layouts for Interest Rate Derivatives, Foreign Exchange Derivatives, Equity Derivatives, Credit Derivatives and Commodity Derivatives are as follows.

(a) Interest Rate Derivatives

D.6.1.4 Sorting for Detail Records

	Fields	Order
1	Trade Reference	Ascending
2	Update Time	Ascending

D.6.1.5 Report Structure

Under some situations, multiple column headings may exist in the reports. The report structure can be represented graphically by the following diagram:

Whenever there are any changes in the report column heading, a new Column Heading Record will be written to the report. The Report Detail Records written afterwards will follow the new report column heading. This situation may occur when different sub-products are referred within the same report.

For example, there is a UTI which was originally assigned to an Interest Rate trade. After it was archived, the UTI was reused and assigned to another Foreign Exchange trade. Subsequently, the Foreign Exchange trade was also archived and reporting entity make use of the UTI to request the archive request reports
